

Use the space below to design an earthquake proof building.

You will need to carry out research into exactly what sort of features your building needs.

You must consider ways to protect against earthquakes, and you must annotate your building to explain its design features.

